

They Need You and You Need Them.

You are Invited to the 2025 Regional Workforce CTE Forum!

November 13, 2025, 8:00 a.m.- Noon, Virginia Wesleyan University

Help us celebrate our third year committed to the Workforce Career and Technical Education (CTE) Forums! We focus on giving our soon-to-be high school graduates more opportunities to understand and choose a career for their futures! The Forum builds relationships by emphasizing partnerships between businesses, nonprofits, our high school CTE Administrators, colleges/universities, economic development/government, and community leaders.

Why it Makes Sense

Hundreds of high school students have no idea what they are going to do when they graduate. Come learn more about how to provide High-Quality, Work-Based Learning (HQWBL) opportunities.

You will...

- Be informed about CTE (Career and Technical Education) in Virginia and the efforts to support businesses to create HQWBL experiences.
- Networking with 125 or more attendees, enjoy a continental breakfast, and hear brief presentations addressing the economic impact in our region and workforce.
- Hear from a panel of business leaders and young workers with best practices for successful programs.
- Participate in breakout sessions for networking, brainstorming, and additional learning.

Once students actively participate in an experience at your worksite, they become excited, realizing "I could do this!"

Ask how your organization can also sponsor! For more information, contact Susan Long-Molnar at 757-513-8633 or susan@managingcommunications.com
